

climate chaos...oil wars...corporate greed...
...it's time to join the dots...

international day of action against climate change and the g8

offset this

8/6/07

the leaders meeting in germany behind their ferocious soldiers are leading us further towards a catastrophic and irreversible climate disaster. the time has come to act...

8/6/07

direct action and civil disobedience are the rational response in this time of crisis.

the international day of action against climate change and the g8 has been called by the international rising tide network. this is a call for autonomous, decentralized actions appropriate for your town, city or region. use this international day of action to support local struggles against oil refineries, gas pipelines, strip mines, coal-fired power plants, airport expansion, new roads...

organise workshops to spread ideas and skills for a just and sustainable post-petroleum world.

disrupt, educate, dismantle, create, celebrate and rebel!

actions are planned throughout the g8 countries and around the world.

for more information and agit-prop materials, check out the website.

find a weak spot in their machine...

and throw a spanner in the works

www.risingtide.org.uk
www.risingtidenorthamerica.org